

PLANS FOR THE THE STATE PRISON ARE COMPLETED

State Engineer Nicholas has finished his plans for the new state prison and his report is now being shaped up to present to the board this week.

It will be one of the most exhaustive reports ever made to a board of prison commissioners and will include the data gathered back east last spring when Nicholas and Attorney General Stoddard visited all the leading prisons, federal and state, in the country, in search of ideas for incorporation into the new prison for Nevada.

In their judgment the model prison in the United States is the one at Riker's Island, in New York harbor, on East river. This prison cost a trifle over $5,000,000 and is yet to be completed.

The new prison for Nevada will be modeled more nearly after that at Riker's Island than any other. The Nevada prison will contain additional features that are needed here and that would not be put into use back east on account of the limits of the site on which it is located.

The new prison will be built very largely of cement. The walls will be of concrete as well as the roofs. Reinforced steel trusses and steel girders will be used and will be built to accommodate 300 inmates, absolutely fire proof and of such construction that it will be absolutely impossible for prisoners to escape from it. It will be built so that it can be enlarged as fast as needed with very little additional cost to the state.

The buildings will be of such size and architectural shape that they will form a harmonious part of the landscape and will, as far as appearances go, be without the usual unsightly prison features. The interior will be so arranged that graded prisoners may be handled. The style will be of the so-called mission architecture.

The state engineer regards as the second best prison in the country that at Rahway, N. J., the cost of which was about $900,000.

The board of prison commissioners will meet this week and go over the plans and reports of the state engineer and probably decide on the site for the new buildings and start a work that has been needed badly for many years and will be done in such manner that necessity shall not arise for additional large expenditure for a quarter of a century to come.—Carson Appeal.

CLAIMS RIGHTS TO POWER SITE

In the district court yesterday, Judge Lewis H. Rogers entered suit against J. W. Adams, former governor of Nevada, and the Nevada-California Power company, for $50,000, said to be his portion of the profits by which certain water rights of Bishop creek were taken over by the defendant corporation.

J. L. Bourland is referred to in the complaint as the trustee for Adams and Rogers for holding the Bishop creek location. He is said to have received but small benefit from the transfer, most of the profits going to Adams in the form of cash and a block of power stock.

Some seven years ago Rogers, the plaintiff, claims that he entered into an agreement with Adams whereby the former was to furnish the intellectual effort, and Adams the cash, for the acquisition of water rights in the southern part of this state and in California. Rogers avers that he did his part of the work and secured the locations, but tells the court that Adams thereupon entered into a fraudulent contract with Bourland as a result of which the valuable water rights were sold to C. M. Hobbs and L. E. Curtis, both promoters of the Nevada Power, Mining and Milling company, the predecessor of the Nevada-California Power company. Rogers avers that he has been squeezed out of his rights as locator of water rights under a valid agreement, and seeks the damages named.—Goldfield Tribune.

LOST CABIN MINE GROWS BETTER DAILY

A. Chapelle, locator of the famous Lost Cabin mine, at the head of Cat creek, which at the present time is attracting widespread attention, was in town yesterday from the diggings.

In speaking about the property Mr. Chapelle said that the indications grow brighter daily and point to one of the greatest mines in the state.

The leases will be signed up next Monday. In all 30 applications have been received.—Hawthorne-Lucky Boy Post.

STOCK MARKET

Tonopah stocks fared fairly well on yesterday's session of the San Francisco stock exchange. While the majority remained stationary, Montana and MacNamara each advanced a point. Belmont slipped back one cog. Fraction of Goldfield also crept up a notch while Florence fell away 2½ points. Consolidated maintained the same price as was asked on the previous day's closing at $6.95 bid. Booth also remained normal.

TO PROSECUTE CORPORATION

Governor Dickerson has directed the district attorney of Humboldt county to bring suit against the Darby Ore Reduction company, doing business in Humboldt county, for recovery of a fine of $500 for failure to comply with the corporation law in filing a certified copy of its articles of incorporation and name and address of its resident agent in the office of the secretary of state, under the provisions of Sec. 3 of the act of March 20, 1907.

The matter was called to the attention of the governor and secretary of state by Attorneys Bonfield and Brandon of Winnemucca, who brought proceedings to foreclose a lien for materials furnished the company and it was discovered the corporation was doing business in the state without complying with the law.

The governor's action in insisting upon a compliance with the corporation law will have the effect, no doubt, of causing a number of foreign corporations to get busy and file their papers and pay the fees required by the laws of Nevada. It is said there are other corporations which will be proceeded against in the same manner.

This is the first action of this kind ever taken in the state since the passage of the corporation act in 1907.

Governor Dickerson deserves the commendation of all law abiding citizens in his efforts to bring to time corporations doing business in this state without complying with the law. Let the good work go on.
